

For more information about FSD’s Internships, please click here.

For more information about our Udaipur Site, please click here.

To Apply for an internship, please click here.

Organization Description	Internship Opportunities
Seva Mandir Seva Mandir works with 360,000 people across 700 villages of southern Rajasthan, not only to improve their material well-being, but to build stronger and more ethical communities. Through its programs on governance, health, education, sustainable use of natural resources, women’s empowerment, youth development, child care and social enterprise, Seva Mandir makes a tangible and transformative impact. Every year, 12,000 disadvantaged children receive a quality education in its schools; 8,000 women and children out of reach of hospitals are offered critical health services; thousands more families achieve food security and sustainable livelihoods through the rehabilitation of hundreds of acres of land; and 9,000 women move closer to gender equality and financial independence through women’s groups and lending cooperatives.	Women’s Rights Advocacy Intern: This intern will work on advocacy campaigns for Seva Mandir’s domestic violence shelters (short stay homes), evaluating the effectiveness of current strategies and helping to create new ones. This position requires that the intern understand basic advocacy strategies. Interns must be committed to working with local community members and have the patience, understanding, and mature enough to deal with women/Girls violence issues. Educational Programming Intern: This intern will work on educational components of the Short Stay Home (shelters) for women and their children. This means evaluating, improving, and adding to the educational materials that exist. This may involve organizing vocational training workshops so that the women can generate income and be self-sufficient. It also may involve creating educational materials; putting on educational sessions, games, or other activities; expanding materials; or expanding outreach. These efforts aim to allow women and their children to release their stress and help them build their courage and strength. The intern must become familiar with all aspects of these Short Stay Homes in order to best evaluate how to improve or expand their educational programming. Knowledge of basic design principles may be helpful, but is not required. Organizational Development & Logistics Intern: This intern will work with the Seva Mandir’s Urban Block to determine what areas are lagging in terms of organization and efficiency. The intern may be asked to create or update databases and/or organize campaigns to collect data to fill them. This intern should be organized with excellent computer and analytical skills, while having the patience and flexibility to integrate well with the staff. Publicity and Media Intern: This intern will collaborate with staff to create improved or new strategies to promote the organization in the community. This may involve taking video, video editing, web design, or elaboration of paper media. It also may include creating testimonials, and developing write ups on success stories. Intern must be interested in media and be inclined toward creativity.
Jatan Sansthan Jatan provides opportunities to young people in the community to design and implement programs based on their health and development needs. Jatan believes	Research Intern: Jatan has been working on the issue of preventing child marriages through various perspectives of bring respect to the girl child, connecting children to education and working extensively on political empowerment of women, addressing violence and reproductive health. A research intern is needed for Jatan to put special attention on this issue. The proposed research will help the organization understand the ground foundation for sustainable development that youth development must be addressed in a holistic manner.

realities of this group better on parameters of health, cultural and social issues, economic status and psychological status. This research will be used to better understand and evolve strategies to work with these youth and the community. A background in women's empowerment, social work, and research are all beneficial subject areas to be familiar with.